EMR Implementation and Optimization

Electronic Medical Records (EMRs) are an increasingly important aspect to healthcare organizations. As a platform for patient data aggregation and collaboration, EMRs can help reduce medical errors, increase efficiency and reduce costs.

> " In my future planning of any Epic implementation, Orchestrate Healthcare is my plan. Their methodology from start to finish takes away the pressure from me as the CIO, minimizes my risk, and I have the confidence that their team will overcome any obstacles or challenges the project has. No matter how insurmountable it appears, Orchestrate Healthcare will take care of it.

Helping Healthcare Today

As in-house IT departments struggle to keep up with the demands within their organizations, Orchestrate Healthcare offers expert consulting services for healthcare clinical projects. We work alongside internal staff to provide four important elements of excellent service:

1   Technical expertise
2   Project management
3   Project methodologies
4   Process improvement / optimization

Our experienced consultants are knowledge transfer specialists determined to successfully implement and optimize clinical systems that best fit your needs.

Custom Solutions

Because health records are fundamental to healthcare, it is necessary to understand how they are or will be used within an organization. Orchestrate Healthcare understands how processes and systems work together and incorporates the latest techniques into the planning process.

Because most healthcare practices have their own unique set of requirements, systems are typically custom tailored. During the process we can:

- Perform a readiness assessment of current systems
- Provide an analytical review of workflow
- Incorporate best practices
- Present a recommended roadmap for implementation
- Implement clinical and financial systems and modules
- Develop and provide training to hospital staff
- Lead the go-live
- Perform post go-live optimizations
